Subject: Registration Standard for English Language Skills

Dear Ms Almond

I am writing to provide my feedback about a new standard.

The standard will help to many nursing students who have been struggling with English exams.

I saw many students can not work even though they have an offer from Hospital s due to they could't make the sufficient exam results.

This standard will bring good advantages for students and hospitals.

I was told that New Zealand registration standard for English Language skills is much easier than Australia because NZ board accept the exam results in several sittings.

The applications can collect scores for registration. OET test is made for collecting each sections.

I have been thinking it is unfair Australia Nurse applicants because New Zealand nurses are able to get a license without taking the exam.

I hope that applicants can collect OET scores in the future.

Thank you

Yours sincerely
