Respected Madam,

This is in regard to requirements of registrations for nursing student's english language requirements, I think that those who studied upto 12th standard in an english medium or those who studied their graduation degree in english medium in any university out of Australia and then did a nursing degree from Australian university should be registered directly with Nursing Board of Australia without sitting in IELTS test. A university should decide whether or not to give admission to a candidate after assessing candidate's english language proficiency.

Thanking You,

Rajesh Kumar
